COOKIES POLICY

What are cookies?

Cookies are tiny text files which are stored on your computer when you visit certain websites. At Protec, our website uses cookies to keep track of what you have in your basket, to remember you when you return to our website, and to provide us with anonymous site usage statistics.

To order products on the protection.co.uk website, you need to have cookies enabled (see the 'Managing cookies' section below). If you don't wish to enable cookies, you'll still be able to browse the site and use it for research purposes, but if you want to place an order you will need to contact us to arrange this for you.

Please note that cookies can't harm your computer. We don't store personally identifiable information such as credit card details in cookies we create.

We're giving you this information about cookies as part of our initiative to comply with recent EU legislation, and to make sure we're clear about your privacy when using our website.

Our cookies policy

To make full use of the online ordering features on the protection.co.uk website, your computer, tablet or mobile phone will need to accept cookies, as we can only provide you with online ordering features by using them.

Our cookies do NOT store any sensitive data such as your name, address or payment details: they simply allow our website to recognise you and provide us with anonymous website usage statistics.

Managing cookies

If you'd prefer to restrict, block or delete cookies provided to your computer by the protection.co.uk website, you can change your web browser's settings to do this. Each browser is different, so check the 'Help' menu of your particular browser (or your mobile phone's handset manual) to learn how to change your browser's cookie settings.
