Southwest inspiration meets unconventional design to create this overtly organic chandelier. A white iron foundation is encased by a matching white wood, carved in a cactus-like arrangement. Each arm has been embellished with clusters of coco shell, a detail that further plays up its perennial inspiration. The unique shape slightly conceals six bulbs that brilliantly illuminate a space, while working in tandem with the design to create an even more brilliant shadow play. Though its characteristics favor greenery, it is a perfect addition to coastal settings. Finish will vary. Additional chain available (CHN-241).
